Introduction

The Navajo Nation Division of Economic Development (DED), through its Eastern Regional Business Development Office (ERBDO), is seeking a highly qualified Consultant to provide comprehensive Topographic Survey Services for the East Gallup Mixed-Use Development. The objective of this survey is to inform the next crucial steps in the planning and development of this significant initiative by identifying areas suitable and unsuitable for development.

Interested parties are invited to submit proposals outlining their qualifications, experience, and strategic vision for this transformative project.

Project Overview

The East Gallup Mixed-Use Development site encompasses 81.52 acres of undeveloped trust land within the Church Rock Chapter boundary. This strategically located parcel is positioned directly across from Gallup-Miyamura Public High School, off New Mexico State Highway 564, offering exceptional visibility and high traffic exposure at the intersection of Historic Route 66 and U.S. Highway 564. While the topography presents a challenge with hilly and uneven terrain requiring significant earthwork, the site's prime location and accessibility make it an extremely compelling prospect for development.

Potential Projects

- Commercial/Retail Complex: Offering a variety of retail options and services.
- Industrial/Light Manufacturing: Providing space for light industrial operations and manufacturing.
- Restaurants/Cafes: Creating diverse dining experiences.
- Medical Facilities: Expanding access to healthcare services.
- Residential Development: Including apartment complexes and housing units.
- Public Safety Facilities: Enhancing community safety and security.
- Senior Assistance Living: Providing supportive housing for seniors.
- Wellness Center: Promoting health and well-being.
- Professional Office Complex: Offering modern office space for businesses.
- Government Office Complex: Consolidating government services.

The consultant should possess in-house capabilities or established partnerships in the following areas:

- Civil Engineering: Planning and design of infrastructure, including roads, utilities, and drainage systems.
- Land Planning: Creating site plans, master plans, and development strategies.
- Utility Analysis: Assessing utility needs and infrastructure requirements.

A Conceptual Master Planning, Preliminary Economic Feasibility, and Preliminary Engineering Analysis report was completed in 2023. This report provides valuable insights into the project's potential and includes schematic layouts for the proposed developments. This existing documentation will serve as a foundation for the Master Developer's planning and design efforts.

Site Overview
